

Advanced Permaculture Course In Teaching

September 2 – 8, 2014

With Jude Hobbs AND Guests: Andrew Millison, Koreen Brennan, and Others

Kinstone Academy of Applied Permaculture
Fountain City, Wisconsin

Empower Yourself To Advocate For Change Through Teaching Whole Systems and Passion Based Learning

In this dynamic and interactive course, you will learn significant teaching techniques to communicate Permaculture principles and strategies in a wide variety of settings. This Teacher Training unfolds as a design methodology and advocates the Permaculture Design Course Curriculum.

Our goal is to encourage and inspire your unique strengths and talents by demonstrating diverse teaching modalities such as lecture, facilitating class discussions, storytelling, utilizing visual aids and hands-on projects. In this setting of active learning, you will experience essential practice by preparing and co-teaching multiple presentations.

SOME OF WHAT YOU WILL LEARN

- Philosophy and Ethics of Instruction
- Teaching Systems, Principles and Patterns
- Adult Learning Styles & Cultural Diversity
- Curriculum and Lesson Plan Building
- Presentations and Facilitators Roles
- Utilizing Media and Activities
- Co-Instructing
- Time Management
- Planning, Marketing, and Economics
- Teaching Venue Logistics
- Interns and Apprentices
- Evaluations and Feedback
- Tips from the Trade
- Keeping Up The Spirit
- Extensive Resources and More
- Peer review presentation critiques

TUITION

$925. Includes course materials, camping & 3 deliciously local meals a day. Early Registration discount of $50 by July 31, 2014. Limited local work trades are available.

LOCATION

Kinstone Academy of Applied Permaculture is an education center for advanced, applied permaculture. It is on a 30-acre property in the driftless region of Wisconsin and is packed with diverse applications of Permaculture and sustainability in practice. It is a living/working classroom that facilitates hands-on learning in a wide range of systems and climatic contexts.

INSTRUCTORS

Jude Hobbs co-founded Cascadia Pc Institute North American Pc Institute and has 30 years experience in the design and teaching fields. She utilizes whole system designs to generate environmentally sound solutions that inspire sustainable action. Jude offers courses throughout the US and Canada and has developed curricula that encompass diverse learning styles with techniques that are fun, inspiring and information rich. See more: www.cascadiapermaculture.com.

CONTACT

Email: info@kinstonecircle.com Phone: 608-687-3332
Website: www.kinstonecircle.com
Facebook: www.facebook.com/KinstoneAcademy

“This course is a living example Permaculture Design. The design of the course itself, the course location, the learning environment, and the total delivery embody the principles, ethics, and functional application of Permaculture Design for place, people, and evolution. This course has empowered me with the knowledge, strategy, tools, techniques, and ability to empower others through teaching.” CS